The James and Carris Lucas Scholarship

James and Carris Lucas are very beloved individuals in the Knox Community School System. They taught for a combined 52 years, and education was and is a very important part of their lives. They implemented these values into the lives of their children, their grandchildren, and a countless number of students they have impacted. Their influence on the school system is still eminent today, long after their retirement.

James was born on May 14, 1922. He had a twin sister, Marian.

To honor their dedication to teaching and to support students in furthering their education, their family created the James and Carris Lucas Scholarship with the help of the Starke County Community Foundation.

The award goes to a graduating Knox High School senior who attended the school for at least two years and is pursuing a degree in education and/or a natural sciences field.

Recipients must also demonstrate meaningful involvement in their community and high school and display good citizenship.

With this scholarship, James and Carris will continue to impact the lives of students in Knox, an act that they were so passionate about as educators in the community.

Copyright © 2018 Northern Indiana Community Foundation