Ken Kemble and Doris "Eileen" Hasnerl both attended Knox High School. These high school sweethearts spent 55 incredible years together after their marriage on October 6, 1963. They raised two children, Kurt and Kelly (Manning) and enjoyed their five grandchildren, Taylor and Hunter Kemble; and Kemble, Harrison, and Gabriel Manning.

In high school, Ken played basketball and went on to play at Penn State University while studying education. He then earned a Master of Science degree from Purdue University. After college, he returned to his hometown and taught, coached, and mentored students at Knox Community School Corporation for 37 years. Furthermore, he served as a Washington Township Volunteer Firefighter and Washington Township Advisory Board Member.

Eileen was known for her talent as a baton twirler. She even twirled in the Tangerine Bowl in Orlando, Florida. As a career, she was a banker at First Farmers Bank and Trust in Knox which became KeyBank by the end of her career. She also served as a Knox High School Treasurer and Washington Township Trustee for many years.

Ken and Eileen's children Kurt and Kelly began this fund in 2019 to remember their parents and celebrate their community volunteer spirit forever. The Kemble family's legacy will now continue for years to come.
