Miami County Retired Teachers Scholarship:

At the October 2013 meeting of Miami County Retired Teachers, Deana Glassburn, a retired teacher and administrator at Maconaquah, had a goal of establishing a scholarship fund to benefit Miami County students wishing to pursue a degree in Education.

Deana Glassburn graduated from Maconaquah High School in 1969 and continued her education earning a Master of Science degree in education. Deana was hired as a teacher and later became an administrator working at Randall, Maconaquah, and Pipe Creek Elementary School where she eventually retired from in 2008. As a member of the Indiana State Teachers Association and president of the Miami County Retired Teachers Association, Deana truly had a heart that cared deeply for each student within the school corporation.

Following her death in March 2014, the Miami County Retired Teachers wanted to see her dream become a reality and worked hard to fund a scholarship in Deana's honor.

This scholarship helps assist those who are continuing their education to become future educators who are going to have a lasting impact on the students like Deana Glassburn had.
